The label associated with that product on their website is old (pre-mitigation). They have a current, compliant label registered. Their website needs to be updated.

I didn't see anything on their main page that I have a problem with. That's all I looked at though.....

In the PRIA fee waiver group today, we had an application from Scimetrics – they have a lot of Kaput products. As part of the application process we look at the company website, which shows a lot of pellet products. Given the recent mitigation, are they allowed to have this on their website?
